Dear Rick,

The Pollinator Partnership is a 501(c) 3 organization dedicated to supporting sustainable ecosystems and agriculture through pollinators. The Pollinator Partnership also manages the North American Pollinator Protection Campaign (NAPPC), a collaboration of diverse partners working to protect pollinators and raise the profile of pollinator issues. Pollinator Partnership is happy to collaborate with Integrated Vegetation Management Partners on Ecosystem Management to promote conservation, research, monitoring and training efforts that advance management of vegetation management and habitat.

Rights-of-Way vegetation could provide valuable habitat for bees and other native pollinators. These millions of acres have the potential to support a variety of pollen and nectar sources and have a huge impact on the conservation of threatened pollinating species.

We are looking forward to partnering with you to make the goals of Integrated Vegetation Management Partners and Ecosystem Management research and workshops a success for pollinators.

Sincerely,

Laurie Davies Adams
Executive Director
